The EXAGON TACTICAL KNIVES series is a concrete response to the needs of those in need to always have with you a useful and reliable tool to be used in any situation too the most extreme. The steel used is a good compromise between cutting qualities and resistance to oxidation, the blade profile is simple but guarantees and maximizes cutting performance.

The handle made with two micarta grips allows a firm and at the same time grip good handling of the knife.

The smaller dimensions of the items FX-1666TK and FX-1665TK allow you to carry these knives not only in the belts but also in the boots and in the forearm without hindering the operator's movement.
